

Program Information

College:	Norman J. Radow College of Humanities and Social Sciences
Department:	Interdisciplinary Studies – Undergraduate
Program:	Peace and Justice Studies, Minor

Program Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this degree from KSU, students will be able to:

1. Identify and apply key theories and methods of Peace and Justice Studies, including the connection between peace and justice
2. Articulate orally and in writing major theories about the causes of violence and the necessary conditions for peace and justice.
3. Explain theories and models of nonviolence and restorative justice in relation to real-world global conflicts.
4. Analyze peacebuilding methods at different levels from interpersonal to global.