

Words, Music, Memory

(Re)presenting Voices From the Holocaust

Exhibit Opening Event

The KSU Bailey School of Music and the Museum of History and Holocaust Education (MHHE), in partnership with James Madison University, present a free concert to mark the opening of our newest traveling exhibit, Words, Music, Memory: (Re)presenting Voices from the Holocaust.

When: Sunday, September 19, 2021, at 3:00 p.m.

Where: KSU Music Building, Room 109

What: Sheena Ramirez, soprano, in collaboration with Dr. Jeanette Zyko, oboe/English horn, and Jeremiah Padilla, piano, presents works composed by Lori Laitman and Dr. Laurence Sherr in a lecture-recital focused on music based on the words of young people who witnessed the Holocaust. The concert will illustrate the power of music to bridge generations in active commemoration, a theme illuminated in the MHHE's newest exhibit. Exhibit curator, Adina Langer, will lead a Q&A with Ramirez and Sherr after the concert.
